ABSTRACT

Student charges for 1980-81 at member institutions of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges were surveyed. A response rate of 87 percent (299 institutions) was obtained. Data are presented on resident and nonresident tuition and fees, average charges, ranges of fees, charges for undergraduate and graduate students, regional comparisons, two-year comparisons, and 10-year trends in student charges. The average tuition bill for a year's attendance at one of the nation's public four-year comprehensive colleges had increased 14.8 percent, from $712 in 1980-81 to $818 in 1981-82, an increase of 12.6 percent. The percentage increase in total charges (tuition and fees and room and board) was similar for both undergraduate residents (11.3 percent) and nonresidents (11.2 percent). The average total charge for residents was $2,578, while it was $3,781 for nonresidents. The overall rise of student charges for 1981-82 was spurred by inflation and cutbacks in appropriations of state tax funds for operating costs of higher education. The western states as a group reported the highest percentage increase in state resident tuition and fees (18.7 percent), while the East continued its trend of having the highest average tuition and fees for both residents ($1106) and nonresidents ($2402). Information is presented on states with the highest undergraduate tuition and fees and with the highest percent increase. Average graduate tuition and fees and charges by region are examined. Undergraduate and graduate student charges for residents and nonresidents are presented by state and institution, and a sample questionnaire is appended. (SW)

PREFACE

The American Association of State Colleges and Universities and the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges join this year in publishing a comprehensive two-part report on student charges at colleges and universities holding membership in the two associations.

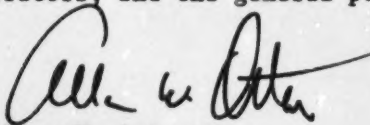

Together, the two associations represent the overwhelming majority of public colleges and universities in the nation -- some 483 institutions in all, including America's principal public research universities.

The institutions served by the two associations enroll 6.2 million students in every state of the Union, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

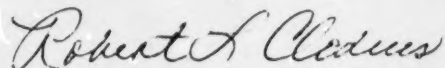

The report that follows presents data on resident and non-resident tuition and fees, analyzes average charges, offers regional and two-year comparisons, ranges of fees, charges for undergraduate and graduate students, and examines a 10-year trend in student charges.

For 1981-82, student charges, spurred by inflation and cutbacks in appropriations of state tax funds for operating costs of higher education, have registered an overall rise of slightly more than 14 percent. Despite the evidence of the rise, both associations and the institutions they represent remain committed to low tuition as the primary guarantee of access to educational opportunity and to the conviction that every American should have the opportunity for a postsecondary education appropriate to his or her needs and qualifications.

We hope the data presented here by these institutions will serve as an informative and useful compilation of information for students, university administrators, and the general public.

AASCU SURVEY OF STUDENT FEES, 1981-82

This year's annual survey of student charges was mailed directly to each member institution in order to (1) facilitate accuracy of data and (2) establish contact between AASCU's research department and institutional offices. Survey results were developed on AASCU's computer, and special printouts are available to the membership upon request; the actual report was designed with the assistance of NASULGC's Office of Communications.

The 1981-82 Survey of Student Fees for the State Colleges and Universities achieved a response rate of 87% (299 institutions). Data were collected in August of 1981 and include tuition increases as of that month. A copy of the survey instrument and definition of terms is included in Appendix A. Appendixes B and C provide a complete listing of the data, by institution; the following tables and explanatory text have been drawn from this information.

A methodological note: 1980-81 charges cited in this report may differ from those published in last year's. Updates to last year's rates as well as changes in AASCU membership can result in moderately different figures or averages than previously reported.

* STATE RESIDENT UNDERGRADUATE TUITION AND FEES INCREASE 14.8% FROM LAST YEAR

The average tuition bill for a year's attendance at one of the nation's public four-year comprehensive colleges has increased 14.8%, from $712 in 1980-81 to $818 in 1981-82.

The average tuition and fee charge for undergraduate non-residents rose from $1795 in 1980-81 to $2021 in 1981-82, an increase of 12.6%.

* TOTAL CHARGES UP 11.3% FOR STATE RESIDENTS; UP 11.2% FOR NON-RESIDENTS

The percentage increase in total charges (tuition and fees and room and board) was similar for both undergraduate residents (11.3%) and non-residents (11.2%). This year's average total charge for residents is $2578, up from $2317 last year; the average for non-residents reached $3781 this year, as compared to last year's $3400.

Table I shows a two-year comparison of average undergraduate charges for residents and non-residents at AASCU institutions.

* Average combined room and board rate, based upon those institutions which reported a board plan of 19 to 21 meals and a room rate for seven days.

 Total charges category represents cost of tuition and fees and room and board; books, transportation, and personal expenses are not included.

* TUITION INCREASES OUTPACE INFLATION

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports a 10.9% increase in the consumer price index for the period from August 1980 to August 1981. The increase in student charges for the same period at AASCU institutions indicates tuition and fee charges outpaced inflation, as did total charges; increase in room and board fees (9.7%) did not quite keep pace with inflation.

* INFLATION AND STATE LEGISLATURES CITED AS REASONS

Approximately three-fourths of the survey respondents (74%) cited inflation as a reason for the fee increases. Almost half of the respondents (42%) indicated inadequate appropriations from the state legislature had also contributed to the increase in fees; one-third (33%) also attributed the increases to a lack of additional revenue sources. Other reasons stated, but not in substantial percentages, included: increases in faculty and staff salaries; legislative mandates; changes in student aid; and maintaining current levels of program quality.

* WEST REPORTS HIGHEST % INCREASE; EAST AGAIN REPORTS HIGHEST TUITION

Tuition and fee increases varied by region and state. This year the western states as a group reported the highest percentage increase in state resident tuition and fees (18.7%); last year this same group had the lowest percentage increase (8.0%). Differences among the regions for non-resident charges was minimal. The East continued its trend of having the highest average tuition and fees for both residents ($1106) and non-residents ($2402).

Table II shows a two-year comparison of undergraduate tuition and fees for residents and non-residents, by state and region.

* VERMONT CHARGES HIGHEST RESIDENT FEES; NEW HAMPSHIRE LEADS NON-RESIDENT FEES

A comparison of undergraduate tuition and fees by state reveals that Vermont has the highest resident charge ($1422) this year; the highest non-resident charge was, for the second consecutive year, reported by New Hampshire ($3488).

Table III lists the ten states with the highest undergraduate tuition and fees for residents and non-residents.

Indiana	1074	Ohio	2627

The District of Columbia, for the second consecutive year, reported the highest percentage increase in tuition and fees; according to a spokesman from the University of the District of Columbia's Office of the Vice President, the 100% increase for 1981-82 is the result of a legislative mandate to raise tuition to levels comparable with other state colleges and universities. The highest percentage increase for non-residents was reported by Alabama (47.3%)

Table IV lists the ten states that reported the highest percentage increase in 1981-82 undergraduate tuition and fees for state residents and non-residents.

* TWO STATES REPORT 0% INCREASE

Zero resident tuition increases were reported by Alaska and Hawaii; neither did non-resident charges increase in Hawaii. Less than 1% increases were reported by New Jersey and Kentucky for state residents and by Connecticut and Hawaii for non-residents.

* DECREASE IN TUITION

Two institutions reported an actual decrease in undergraduate tuition this year: the University of North Carolina at both Asheville and Wilmington reported a 4.4% decrease in tuition for non-residents. University staff attribute the decrease to a mandate for identical tuition within the University of North Carolina system; fees, however, at each institution may vary and therefore may create different totals for instructional charges.

* GRADUATE FEES UP 11.7%

Resident graduate students at AASCU member institutions are paying $904 this fall for tuition and fees; when compared to last year's average of $809 the $95 difference represents an 11.7% increase. Non-resident graduate students will pay a comparable percentage increase (11.3%) but will pay average tuition and fees of $2006, up from $1803 last year.

Table V reflects a two-year comparison of graduate tuition and fees for both state residents and non-residents.

 NON-RESIDENT GRADUATE FEES SPAN RANGE OF $3530

The range for graduate tuition and fees in 1981-82 for state residents is $2670, with the lowest charge ($222) reported by California State University at Stanislaus, and the highest ($2892) reported by Ferris State College (MI). Non-resident tuition and fees ranged from $460 at Southeast Missouri State University to $3990 at the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown, a range of $3530.

 EAST AGAIN REPORTS HIGHEST GRADUATE CHARGES; MIDWEST INCREASES NON-RESIDENT CHARGES

A comparison of graduate tuition and fees by region indicates the East continues to report the highest average charge ($1310) and highest percentage increase (28.6%) for state residents. This year the midwestern states reported the highest charge ($2337) and percentage increase (24.7%) for non-residents. And for at least the second consecutive year, states in the western part of the country reported the lowest average for residents ($706); the South again reported the lowest non-resident average charge ($1779). Percentage increases, however, for residents and non-residents in each of the four regions, are higher than the consumer price index of 10.9% for the same time period.

Table VI shows a two-year comparison of graduate tuition and fees for both state residents and non-residents, by region.

* N/A = data not available

The Higher Education Price Index, which adjusts the prices that colleges and universities pay for goods and services to constant dollars, increased 103.4% * between 1971-72 and 1981-82. During that same ten-year period, tuition and fees for residents at AASCU institutions increased 101.9% (See Table VIII), 1.5% less than the Higher Education Price Index. One interpretation is that AASCU institutions have not looked to resident tuition charges as an additional source of revenue, even in the face of declining real dollar income.

Non-resident undergraduate tuition and fees, however, increased 131.2%, 27.8% above the Price Index. It appears that institutions may be more willing to compensate for inflation by raising nonresident charges, rather than resident charges. The validity of such conclusions, however, is difficult to assess, as other variables (e.g., legislative mandates and appropriations, non-resident recruiting strategies/goals) also influence tuition policies.

Appendix B lists undergraduate tuition and fees and room and board charges reported by each member institution; Appendix C lists graduate tuition and fees. Institutions are arranged by state. The room and board code, which follows immediately, applies to 1981-82 charges only. This code is important because some figures under the "Total Room and Board" column represent a "room only" or "board only" fee.

ROOM AND BOARD CODE

- 1 -- Room and board are separate fees
- 2 -- Room and board are combined fees
- 3 -- Room only available
- 4 -- Board only available
- 5 -- Room and board not offered

* The Higher Education Index was developed by Dr. Kent Halstead, Research Economist at the National Institute of Education. The index increase of 103.4 was calculated upon a base year of 1971-72, which equals 100.0, and an accumulated index of 203.4 for this year, 1981-82.

APPENDIX A

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Please complete the attached form and return it by September 1, 1981. Data received after September 1, 1981, can not be included in the final report.
2. Charges are requested for full-time students only, for a FULL ACADEMIC YEAR of two (2) semesters or three (3) quarters. (This excludes summer school.)
3. Please do not provide a per-credit-hour rate for tuition. We can only accept whole figures. If fees are assessed using a per-credit hour rate, please compute a yearly figure based on your institution's normal credit load. For example, on a semester basis, the normal load is usually fifteen (15) hours for undergraduates; therefore, the Full Academic Year figure would be based on thirty (30) hours.
4. Please round off all charges to the nearest dollar. For example, $456.50 should be rounded off to $457.

DEFINITIONS:

Tuition and Required Fees:

Figures should include all charges (tuition and additional institutional fees) that full-time students are required to pay. Special fees include student services, registration, athletic fees, etc.
(DO NOT INCLUDE APPLICATION FEES.)

If your institution charges separate fees for freshman and sophomores (lower division or Level I) and juniors and seniors (upper division or Level II) please compute the annual figure for both levels, and give us the average of the two numbers.

Room and Board:

If there is a range in room figures, please give us the average charge. If room and board are one combined fee, enter that figure by Combined/Total Room and Board. If Room and Board are separate fees, please add these two figures together for Combined/Total Room and Board.

Total Charges:

Please add: Tuition and Fees + Room and Board for undergraduate residents and non-residents.

Resident:

Students who are residents of your state for tuition and fees purposes.

Non-Resident:

Students who are not residents of your state for tuition and fees purposes.
